A GLIMPSE OF CURRENT EVENTS IN ATLANTA.

Day's Doings in Public Office.—The Record of the Court, the Railroad and the Police Department, and the various operations of the various departments of the city.

Watermelons have reached Atlanta.

Charlotte smoking in Atlanta is on the decline.

The mail carriers have put on their new uniforms.

There were three interments in Oakland yesterday.

There were two public sales of real estate yesterday.

The new park should be visited Sunday by a big crowd.

The grading on Jackson street and the Boulevard is being pushed along.

The city hall park was thronged with children and nurses yesterday evening.

The new clock on the new county court house ought to be flumetted after dark.

There are no more silk worms at the department of agriculture to be distributed.

Among the merchants there is some talk of getting up a big celebration on the 4th of July.

A dealer in baby carriages on Whitehall street says there is a big demand for his stock just now.

The cow pen at the station house has been covered every day since the adoption of the cow law.

The Fifth Baptist church has been enlarged and will be re-dedicated on the fourth Sunday in this month.

A negro belonging to Mr. Francis was badly demolished by a runaway horse on Decatur street yesterday morning.

Mrs. HOLLEY, an old resident of Stone Mountain, died at her residence at that place yesterday morning.

The city has been remarkably quiet and dull this week, but the merchants are hopeful and say that trade will revive soon.

At insurance men in Atlanta are now writing risks at the same rate. This causes a universal happiness in the profession.

Winn's parlor ride on an Atlanta restaurant clock killed twenty-one rats between 10 o'clock last night and 1 o'clock this morning.

The police court was enlivened by a big crowd of spectators yesterday morning, but the amount of fine imposed was small.

Morris has a handsome crayon picture of Governor McDaniel placed in exhibition in the windows of Walker Taylor's drug store.

Among the city prison everything was remarkably quiet yesterday, but last night a convention of plain drunks enlivened the cells.

The Mitchell street sewer is nearly completed. Work was being done yesterday at the crossing of Whitehall and Mitchell streets.

ANNE Aiken was before Justice Tanner yesterday on a warrant charging her with stolen goods. The case was compromised and dismissed.

WALKER Prescott, the darkey who was cut in the Wheat street row Tuesday night, is at his home near the old soap factory in a dangerous condition.

A CRAZY darkey created quite an excitement on Bell street yesterday by pulling down gates and fences and threatening to kill all who came near him.

Mrs. BANCROFT and her daughter, Miss Margaret, after spending several weeks with friends in the city, have returned to their home at Mobile, Alabama.

ATLANTA seems to be the center for stock dealers. Notwithstanding the fact that the season is past, the city is full of traders who have plenty of good stock.

In the case of the United States against Mr. Thomas charged with perjury, Judge McCreary has ordered that a nolle prosequi be entered. Mr. Thomas is now free.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Martin died at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, and was buried from the residence, 21 Hood street, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The first open air rehearsal of the Atlanta Musical Union band at the city hall park last evening was very largely attended, and the music was greatly enjoyed by those present.

This condition of Major J. F. Cummings was much improved yesterday, although he is still confined to his room. It is hoped he may soon be able to get out among his friends.

Interesting revival is in progress at the church of Christ, Hunter street. The Rev. A. G. Thomas is officiating, and the congregations every night are large and are deeply interested.

The pair of horses formerly used by the hook and ladder company have been sent to the country to rest. The new pair, although having been in use only a few days, have learned to get in position when alarm is given.

MR. HENRY BERGMANN yesterday returned from Augusta, whither he went to participate in the Freeman's annual parade. Mr. Bergmann intended entering the individual contest, but was ruled out as he was a non-resident.

The Sunday school of the Second Baptist church will picnic at Powder Springs next Saturday, May 12th. The train will leave the city at 7:45 a. m. and return at 5 p. m. The fare will be 30 cents for adults, and 20 cents for children.

KATE CLARK, a once celebrated character in Atlanta police circles, has jumped the chains where she was spending a few years for robbery and is now at large. There is a reward of twenty-five dollars for Katie. She will likely be recaptured in the city.

Some time between midnight of Tuesday and yesterday morning Mrs. S. H. Mallory's residence on Oak street was entered by a burglar, who carried away a silver pitcher, a pair of silver goblets and an overcoat. The thief got into the house by passing over the back fence and through the back door.

MR. CHARLIE HILL says that he is not a candidate for the position of secretary of the board of directors of the Young Men's Library association, and declines to permit the use of his name. He says that his nomination was a piece of humor from his friend, Mr. Osgood Sanders. He says he is a great friend of the association, but he cannot serve.

JACK ELMORE and Tiny Moss, both darkeys, entertained the citizens of Hays Hollow yesterday evening. Elmore has been boarding with Madam Moss for some time past but recently he has been quite attentive to his dusky dame who resides near his boarding house. Yesterday the madam surprised Elmore and the woman and with a chain made off with Elmore's horse.

Five cars of freight which left New York on the steamship Natchez, of the Savannah line, on Saturday last at 4 p. m., reached Atlanta by the Central railroad yesterday afternoon at 3:24, making the remarkable fact time New York to Atlanta in less than four days. This is now the regular schedule of this line, and merchants can depend upon its continuance.

The Young Woman's Christian Temperance union held their weekly meeting in the parlors of the Young Men's Christian association hall at 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon. For some reason the attendance was not as large as it might have been, and on account of the absence of many members, but little was done. The union will hold another meeting next Wednesday at 4:30 o'clock, and it is hoped a full attendance will be had.

REV. J. B. MARTIN, D. D., of Atlanta, after spending several months at Orlando, Fla., returned home a few days ago. Prior to his departure from Orlando, the Presbyterian church paid him a handsome tribute by passing and having published suitable resolutions for the church and his assistance rendered by him in all public religious meetings and social worship. The resolutions were signed by the pastor in charge and the elders of the church.

YESTERDAY Governor Boynton appointed Mr. Sam W. Small a commissioner from the state of Georgia to the southern exposition at Louisville.

Mr. Small's official connection with the Paris exposition and the Atlanta cotton exposition will make

WILD BILL FULCHER.

AN INTERESTING STORY OF AN ATLANTA MAN.

It is a Birth Here While Atlanta Was a Wilderness—His Description of the City When It Was No City.

Gathering Chatterboxes Where the Kinball House Now Stands.

"WILD BILL," by the eternal, as sure as I have my senses."

Such was the ejaculation uttered by Mr. J. M. McCreary yesterday as a gray haired stranger drank the doorway of the law office of McCreary & Smith.

The lawyer sprang to his feet, grasped the intruder by the arm, and with a sudden jerk threw him over a chair. The old man took the proffered chair and began fanning his forehead with a white wooden fan. He had clear, blue eyes, gray hair and whiskers and a face that was as red as a furnace heat could have made it.

On the top of his head was a bald spot just peeping through and his general aspect indicated that he had turned into the second half century of his life.

He was dressed in a suit of dark blue cloth, with a white shirt and a dark tie. He was sitting in a high-backed chair, and his feet were on a footstool.

The old man has a history that would furnish material for a romance of the most thrilling and interesting species. He was born in Atlanta before there was an Atlanta. Fifty-three years ago he first saw the sunlight that ripened chinquapins where the Kinball house now stands and where many a time he has dashed through the dense woods that marked the spot where the city now stands.

He knew the spot. Wild Bill Fulcher, the old man, was the only building anywhere around here—a substantial frame inn pointed white. Twenty-three years ago Wild Bill Fulcher, then a citizen of the "Indian nation" of Georgia, shot a fellow. It was no unusual thing for a man to shoot a fellow in those days. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city. He was a stranger in the city, and he was a stranger in the city.

of Atlanta, Mr. A. T. Finney, of Atlanta, and Mr.
J. W. Weitzel, of Atlanta.

The journal of the last annual session of the association was read and approved, and then the following gentlemen were proposed for membership:
Mr. G. W. Walker, of Gainesville, Mr. C. H. Stock-
ell, of Nashville, Mr. J. W. Frank, of Atlanta, Mr.
R. L. Collins, of Macon, Mr. J. D. Baggett, of Flower Branch, and Mr. J. B. Ward, of Cincinnati.
They were duly elected.

President Jones named as his finance committee Mr. R. Collins, of Macon, Mr. W. L. Jarvis, of Atlanta, and Mr. G. M. Dexter, of Atlanta, and then the association adjourned until 3 o'clock.

IN THE AFTERNOON.

The association reassembled at 3 o'clock and was called to order by President Jones. There was a full attendance and the body was a fine looking one.
President Jones, as chairman of the committee appointed one year ago to memorialize the legislature of Georgia, submitted the report of his committee and asked for further time. Then the engineering was devoted to the discussion of a school for training young carriage builders. Nearly every member of the association took part in the discussion.

One who spoke advocated the school and suggested some valuable ideas. The association indicated its willingness to this and sustained this enterprise, and pending the discussion the body adjourned until 8 o'clock p. m.

BANQUET LAST NIGHT.

The association reassembled at 8 o'clock in the evening and proceeded to the election of officers, which resulted in the selection of Colonel R. H.
Jones, of Gainesville, Ga., as president; J. M.
Smith, of Atlanta, treasurer; J. W. Weitzel, of Atlanta, secretary; N. C. Spence, of Atlanta, assistant secretary; A. F. Jones, of Atlanta, chaplain; Mr. J.
W. Weitzel was chosen delegate to represent the association of Georgia at the National Carriage Builders' association which convenes at New Haverden, Connecticut next October; Colonel R. H.
Jones and Mr. H. L. Atwater alternates. After the business of the evening, the assembly repaired to the refreshment rooms where a most elegant repast was awaiting them. The menu consisted of the best the market affords, every dish having been excellently prepared, and it was the general verdict of all that a more elegant supper was never spread at Carolina. Having partaken of the many delicacies, President Jones arose and proposed the following toast:

"To Atlanta." To this toast Mayor John B. Goodwin made an appropriate and interesting response, expressing in glowing terms the readiness of Atlanta and her citizens to encourage all such enterprises as the Carriage Builders' association. To Georgia, the empire state of the south, Colonel W.
S. Calhoun was called upon, and in his usual easy manner replied in a neat speech. "To the Georgia Carriage Builders' association, especially the members of Atlanta." Colonel James A. Gray replied to this toast, in strong terms favoring the association and congratulating it upon its enterprise and success.

Short addresses were made by Messrs. J. M.
Smith, G. N. Dexter, A. P. Jones, J. W. Frank, W.
E. Jones and other members of the association, after which the president returned thanks to the Atlanta gentlemen for the banquet and the meeting adjourned until 8 o'clock this morning. The selection of Atlanta as headquarters for the association was highly appreciated by all present, and the meeting, which will be held on the second Tuesday in May, 1889. The convention so far has been, many of its objects, and the success of the enterprise having been under consideration and fully discussed. The outlook for a grand success for the association is all the more certain, and the members may feel assured they have established themselves as one of the most important industries of the state.

THE RECEPTIONS.

Governor Boynton and His Friends Last Night—Governor
McDaniel to Receive This Evening.

Last night the parlors and arcades of the Kimball house presented a very attractive appearance. They were thronged with ladies and gentlemen representative of Georgia society. The occasion of the gathering was the reception of Governor Boynton and his wife, tendered to the members of the legislature. Nearly all the members of the general assembly were present to pay their respects to the governor and Mrs. Boynton.
Atlanta was also finely represented. The guests were received in the front parlor and made to feel at home on their entrance by the cordiality of the governor and the charming grace of his wife.
Governor-elect McDaniel and wife were among the earliest callers, remaining in the parlor most of the evening. The pleasant meeting together of the ladies and gentlemen from all parts of the good state, the sparkling conversation and the delightful music made the passing hours pass very rapidly. Many friends found occasion to express their sincere regret that Atlanta is so soon to lose Governor and Mrs. Boynton, who will go in a few days to their future home in Griffin.

To-night Governor McDaniel and his wife will receive their friends informally in the parlors of the Kimball house, and a repetition of the pleasant scenes of last evening may be expected.

The New Court House.

At eleven o'clock to-day the new court house, will be formally turned over to the board of commissioners of roads and revenues. The commissioners and the court house committee will be on hand and a pleasant occasion is expected. It is probable that the county officers will move in tomorrow or next day.

The Roundtree Murders.

The Roundtree murders will pass through Atlanta on Monday next on their way from Athens to the Dade coal mines. Captain John W. Nelms, principal keeper of the penitentiary, has been notified that they await his orders. There are two of them—both negroes.

The Constitution Men.

THE CONSTITUTION'S wonderful Lowndes county watermelon was sold yesterday and was found to be superb. It was the first of the season and was much enjoyed by those who had the good luck to be around when it was cut.

PERSONAL.

John H. Dillard, of Memphis, is stopping at the Kimball for a few days.

Daniel S. Printout, of Rome, Georgia, is at the Kimball.

Miss Annie R. Biele and Carrie Stewart, of New York, attended by Miss Capton, of Richmond, Virginia, have rooms at the Kimball.

R. D. Radcliffe, of Mississippi, a prominent railroad official, is quartered at the Kimball.

Colonel R. B. Buck, a large manufacturer of Baltimore, Maryland, is quartered at the Kimball for a few days.

Colonel C. R. Russell, one of the leading lawyers of Columbus, is at the Kimball.
